

Ph. D. candidate in Mechanical Engineering, with Chemical Engineering M.S. training background and professional experience in data analysis. Strong communication skills obtained from teaching experience and project developments. Experience of designing and implementing experimental setups for research purposes. Capabilities to work independently or as part of team.