

Short Bio:

Jasmine Phillips is a second-year graduate student pursuing her Masters in Textile Chemistry in the Wilson College of Textiles. She graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry from Savannah State University in 2017. She is currently a member of the Ford Innovation Team, working under the supervision of Dr. Ericka Ford of the Nonwovens Institute and Department of Textile Engineering, Chemistry and Science. Jasmine is honored to be continuing her education at a renown and prestigious institution such as the Nonwovens Institute alongside esteemed professionals and hopes to make a great contribution to the program's current and future studies.